

BY AUTHORITY.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

During the process of deepening the channel at the entrance to Honolulu harbor the Dredger will be in operation night and day. At night there will be a danger signal placed on the forward derrick of Dredger about 30 feet above sea level, which can be seen by all vessels approaching the harbor. The signal consists of three red lights and a white light as in the diagram, the red lights being about 3 feet apart with the white light in the center.

All steamers crossing the bar will stop at a safe distance from the Dredger and give one blast of their whistle which will be answered by a single blast from the Dredger, to be followed by three blasts from the Dredger when the passage is clear and they can proceed.

The Tug will be on hand when not otherwise engaged to assist sailing craft in passing the Dredger when necessary.

THE MONUMENT FUND.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—

In your Kalakaua Monument article of the 21st inst. you say there is but one artist living who has made studies from life of his late Majesty. There are a hundred or more here who visited my studio in the Government building in 1878 when I was painting a half length portrait from life and had a dozen or more sittings from Kalakaua, and during the last year of his life I was here and had frequent opportunities of studying him for the full length that I have painted with such great satisfaction to the many admirers of His Majesty.

Several members of the Monument Association have said they were in favor of turning the fund collected toward purchasing my portrait of Kalakaua, their admiration for it is so great that they say that there is nothing in existence so like him as that portrait. The mercenary one referred to who is to make money out of the monument fund exists only in imagination and comes doubtless from the enthusiasm of someone in speaking of the interest felt in the portrait and a desire to have it owned by the Government. No one is offered a consideration of any amount for his influence in that direction. My proposition is to the Legislature. If the Monument Association are so enthused with my portrait of His Majesty as to turn in the fund they have collected toward the purchase of it, it is their affair and not mine.

MISS BERRY'S SCHOOL.

Miss Berry's school, Emma street, closed to-day for the summer vacation. Valdictory exercises were held. The mothers and other relatives, including one father, of the pupils were interested and gratified audience. The readings, recitations, dialogues, and singing were excellent. The general orderly and quiet conduct of the children during the exercises was noteworthy. A medal had been sent to Miss Berry by a former pupil, now residing abroad, for the top scholar in the greatest number of subjects. Millie Rawlins was the honored recipient. A breast ornament was tendered by Miss Berry for the best behaved scholar. By unanimous vote of the school it was pinned to the breast of Mary Godfrey. Certificates of proficiency were awarded to Mamie Friel, Emily Carlsen, Millie Rawlins, Flos Hill, Marian Dowsett, Mary Godfrey, Mary French and Nalani Jones. Everything in connection with the exercises clearly evidenced intelligent and persevering paint-taking on the part of the teacher, Miss Berry.

OLD RAGS WANTED.

Clean white rags suitable for bandages are wanted for use at the Bishop Home and the Boys' Home, Leper Settlement, Molokai. Ring up 281 Mutual telephone and they will be sent for, or leave the same at the office of the Board of Health or at J. T. Waterhouse's, Queen street.

A traveling man who chanced to be in the store of E. V. Wood, at McKees Rocks, Pa., says while he was waiting to see Mr. Wood, a little girl came in with an empty bottle labeled Chamberlain's Pain Balm and said: "Mamma wants another bottle of that medicine; she says it is the best medicine for rheumatism she ever used." 50 cent bottles for sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., Agents.

KALIHWAENA SCHOOL.

The above school held its closing examination yesterday morning with an attendance of 56 pupils out of a total enrolment of 69. Many of the relatives and friends of the pupils and teachers were present and expressed themselves as highly pleased with the unusual proficiency displayed by the children. The principal, Mr. Zumwalt, promptly opened the school at 9 o'clock and proceeded to examine his scholars class by class in the various studies of the past year. A class of boys about ten years of age went to the blackboards and proceeded to draw up and write out bills of parcels in neat handwriting and showed that they were well able to take care of themselves in shopping. While this was going on another class was taken through a course of mental arithmetic with various monetary and other problems. Rapid and correct answers showed that the children were well up in this work. Following this the previous class explained their various operations in remarkably clear and logical English. Then followed various classes in reading and spelling. The elocutionary effect produced by Mr. Zumwalt's teaching was especially noticeable. One noticeable feature was a class in composition who went to the boards and wrote letters in good English, addressed to their parents, teachers or friends, or described their proposed plans of spending the approaching vacation. While these classes were going on Miss Agnew, who ably seconds Mr. Zumwalt in his efforts to improve the scholars, was conducting the primary classes through their course of studies in the other room of the school. Here the walls were decorated with numerous specimens of fancy needlework and crochet, both useful and ornamental. The work of the female pupils under her skilful guidance. Her classes were formed of tiny tots ranging from five to about eight years in age, of whom but eight had ever been at any school except during the current school year. They were truly first-year pupils; yet these little ones had thoroughly mastered the First Reader and their tones and enunciation showed a freedom from defects of enunciation unusual in schools on these islands. Going to the blackboards these little ones who could scarcely reach the edge of the board without standing on tip-toe, proceeded to cover the boards with as fine writing as even the senior classes of other schools could not improve on, and later showed a proficiency in working arithmetical problems both in figures and words truly surprising considering the age of the scholars. Exercises in spelling, oral and written, and dictation, were gone through with the same thorough work shown. Some very fine specimens of drawing by the pupils on paper were shown which many a grown up person would not have been ashamed to own as their handiwork. The sewing classes showed that every variety of useful and ornamental work in this line had been attended to from dressmaking and machine sewing to bookmarks and crocheted wool garments for babies. The usefulness of this class of school-work was greatly appreciated by the mothers and other ladies present. Closing the school work about noon the following program was ably rendered by the pupils, the opening song being especially sweetly sung. The exercises closed about 12:30 o'clock. Mr. Zumwalt and Miss Agnew may now enjoy their vacation conscious of having produced some of the finest educational work in the city for the past year:

G. A. R. OUTPOSTS.

From City of Mexico Veterans to Hawaiian Veterans.

Last year the BULLETIN recorded interesting facts regarding the formation of a Post of the Grand Army of the Republic in the City of Mexico. Mr. W. J. DeGress, Hawaiian Consul at the Mexican capital, was one of the prime movers in instituting the Post. Geo. W. DeLong Post of Honolulu sent its felicitations to the new Post, which is one of four outside the bounds of the United States, there being two in Canada. With its letter the Geo. W. DeLong Post forwarded a beautiful gavel, made of fourteen different kinds of Hawaiian woods and tipped with whale's tooth, the handiwork of Mr. W. E. Herrick, the artistic worker in wood. The Honolulu Post has lately received from the City of Mexico Post a return for its gift, also a gavel of beautiful workmanship. It is constructed of twenty-eight different Mexican woods and is tipped with onyx. Along with the gavel has come a tablet of onyx, five inches square and three-quarters of an inch thick, on which the gavel gives a finely resonant ring. This beautiful return gift is accompanied by the following touching letter, endorsed—"Respectfully forwarded. C. M. Bush, Commander. Mexico, May 12, '92." By favor of Mr. R. J. Greene, an officer of De Long Post, the full text of the letter is given:

Hd. Qs. E. O. C. Ord Post No. 100,
Dept. of Tennessee, G. A. R.,
City of Mexico, Mex., April 28th, 1892.

To the Commander and Comrades of Geo. W. DeLong Post No. 45,
Dept. of California, G. A. R.,
Honolulu, H. I.

Dear Sirs and Comrades,—As a committee appointed by this Post, we beg, in its behalf, to acknowledge the receipt of the beautiful Gavel presented to the Post by you, and to return to you, officially, the thanks, not only of the Post, but of every one of our Comrades. The Gavel is a masterpiece of workmanship, and the beautiful woods of which it is composed are most harmoniously blended together.

Comrades, we accept the memento and your "ALOHA" in the spirit in which you present it, and if you could have seen and heard the enthusiasm which greeted it and the reading of your letters, and heard the strains of The Star Spangled Banner mingling with the Hawaiian Pono and Aloha Oe, the stirring and patriotic remarks that were made, you would have felt that the "touch of the elbow" was more than a name, you would have realized that between the Outposts there existed a real touch, and a bond that will stand while a member of this Post lives to perpetuate it.

"And at the last decisive day,
When rolling heaven shall pass away,
And Ocean from her pearly bed,
With Earth collect her countless dead,"
When we have all passed beyond the veil to that land "where the war drum throbs no longer and battle flags are furled," let us hope that our names may be found inscribed on the Great Record as being worthy to serve in that New Life, and that we may there stand "Shoulder to Shoulder," approved soldiers of the Great Chieftain.

Comrades, we wave an ALL HAIL to you, in your home beyond the Sea.

Sincerely and fraternally yours,
In F. C. & L.
W. J. DEGRESS,
C. H. M. Y. AGREMENT,
Committee.
